Farmers need to state the facts when their city cousin starts talking about food prices.

. . . about inflation and the futility of price ceilings.

. . . that farmers get 40¢ of the food dollar while transportation, processing and distribution requires 60¢.

. . . that food production and food prices at the farm move in self correcting style. (recent hog prices is a classic example)

. . . the importance of agricultural chemicals and feed additives is assuring them of adequate, high quality food.

. . . farmers are anxious to supply an adequate supply of food and fiber at reasonable prices. But the era of low food prices is probably gone.

Homemakers Hints

If you want to get the most from your food dollar, remember it takes time to save. Spend time at home to plan, time to check items on hand to avoid over-buying or waste, time to recognize food specials. You can usually save 10% if you plan menus around the food specials of the week! As you shop, take time to read labels so you know the quality of what you're buying. Take time to select fresh vegetables and fruits, or to choose the right cut of meat for your family. Often we shop in too much of a hurry and will buy the wrong things.

If you're trying to make your food dollar buy more, allow more time for cooking. With a few exceptions, the more preparation done at home, the lower your weekly food bill.

When shopping food ads, keep a few things in mind. Know your family, their nutritional needs, kinds and amounts of foods they need, and their likes and dislikes. Never buy items your family won't eat no matter how low the price! Even if an item is on special, avoid selecting articles of inferior quality or that have a short shelf life unless you can use it immediately. This is especially true for fresh vegetables.

Meat specials can mean a great savings. Look in the ad for the exact name of cut, grade and quality, and the price per pound. But with any meat purchase - to get the most for your meat dollar, always think in terms of cost per serving, not cost per pound.

The May program for E.H. Clubs is New Breakfast Ideas, which is a "Family Life" program (not a foods program as I mentioned earlier). Family Life leaders (food leaders are also welcome) are invited to the leader training meeting on Thursday, April 26, at 1:00 at Southside Electric Cooperative. The Co-op. is located on Rt. 460 near Crewe, and is a large yellow building on the left side of the road. The kitchen is in the building on the right of the main building. Those planning to stop for lunch along the way should leave Appomattox by 10:45; if you eat lunch first, plan to leave by 11:45. Invite your friends and come for a fun day.

The Glover family had his father and mother to visit them this week end and all came to Hebron Sunday.

Facts about the great interest rate war.
No matter what you may read about bank interest rates, keep this one clear fact in mind: No bank anywhere is paying more than Fidelity. And most are actually paying less than Fidelity on popular 2-year, automatically renewable 5¾% Certificates of Deposit. Here's why:
Fidelity compounds your interest continuously, not just daily. So the annual yield to you is more than 6%. It's 6.00315 to be exact.
So in the midst of all the current noise and confusion, just remember this one beautifully simple fact:
Our 6% annual yield on 5¾% Certificates of Deposit is bigger than their 6%.
And that is a fact!
